Asia Pacific College Launches the Master's in Intercultural Leadership Program

Available Worldwide

Tuition Waiver Available

Beginning June 2007

APC is proud to announce the launch of the Master’s in Intercultural Leadership (MIL) Program, starting in Summer 2007. The MIL will help prepare business, academic and government leaders in the Asia Pacific region to understand and work together to deal with regional issues such as leadership in times of natural disaster and managing mega-cities. Faculty will include widely-recognized experts on the issues facing the Asia Pacific region today. The MIL will be offered entirely on-line, with an optional on-site orientation in Hawaii. Tuition waivers are available for qualified students, with special consideration given to early applicants.

For more information on this unique new program, please visit the APC website at www.apchawaii.org, email apc@apchawaii.org, or call (808)942-8553.

The newly-chartered Asia Pacific College kicked off with its first major event, holding the First Intercultural Leadership Workshop at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, February 13-22, 2006. Twenty-two participants from Hawaii and Korea attended to hear experts from the US government and the University of Hawaii speak on a variety of leadership issues. Richard Pratt, Kisuk “Charlie” Cheung, Deane Neubauer, Richard Ady, Jake Dunagan, Kimberley Binstead, Neal Milner, James A. Dator, and Jonathon Goldberg-Hiller spoke on leadership in government and organizations, as well as the cultural knowledge, communication skills, and human relationships necessary to be an effective leader in the modern world. Many of the speakers tailored their talks to the looming problems of culture clash, technological development, governance, economics, and environmental management faced by so many countries in the Asia Pacific region today.

In addition to the regular sessions, special luncheon lectures featured Vance Roy speaking on changes in business schools; Randolph G. Moore on leadership in education; and Sumner J. LaCroix on the economics of Asia and the Pacific.

The participants came away from these talks armed with reading lists and inspiration to learn more about the subjects. In their evaluations of the sessions, they rated the speakers very highly, and mentioned looking forward to the next APC Intercultural Workshop. Although APC has not yet set a date for the next workshop, anyone interested can visit the website at http://www.apchawaii.org to keep track of upcoming events and programs.

2006 Language & Culture Seminar

Once again this fall, CAPE is offering a lecture series on Asian cultures and languages. This year our journey will take us through the religions, music, and theater of China, Japan, India, and Cambodia. Come and join us as experts from the University of Hawaii teach us about the long-standing and fascinating performance traditions of these countries.

“Asia Today” Series

Now in its twentieth year, the “Asia Today” Series is held every spring to showcase a variety of topics central to contemporary situations in the Asia-Pacific region. This year, the Series took place on April 29, May 6, and 13 at the University of Hawaii Campus Center.

On the first day, Dr. Richard Pratt and Dr. Tsedev Damiran discussed Mongolia’s economic, social, and political reform since the Soviet withdrawal in 1990. Dr. Sumner La Croix argued that Japan’s economic woes, which began in 1990, are a result of historical, cultural, economic, and political factors rather than slow government response.

The following week, Dr. Deane Neubauer examined economic and social change in contemporary China in the light of rapid urbanization, changes in work and investment, and possibilities for changes in governance activities. Dr. Jungmin Seo highlighted the problems of ideological control in an emerging market economy in contemporary Chinese society.

On the last day of the Series, Dr. William Wood examined complementary medicine in the Pacific Islands and in Asia, taking a closer look at the region’s complementary medical systems that use both Eastern and Western approaches to medical treatment. Dr. Wood’s second presentation focused on the issues and possible solutions related to Pacific health care in the 21st century.

Participants commented that they “learned a lot,” and the talks were “informative, interesting, and educational.” CAPE deeply thanks the speakers of the Series for their excellent lectures.

Our strong supporters in Korea once again met at the Hannam Club in Seoul on April 10, 2006. Following a dinner and warm exchanges of aloha, the program began with a welcome remark by Mr. Young-Tae Kim, President of CAPE Friends/Korea, who thanked all of CAPE’s friends for their generous support in the past year.

Dr. Jai-Ho Yoo, CAPE President, made an annual report highlighting the program accomplishments of the past 25 years, including having served 7,000 participants from 16 different countries; recognizing the steady support of many organizations over the years; and describing the follow-up activities to strengthen ties via the internet with alumni throughout the Asia-Pacific region. Dr. Yoo was also proud to report that the newly-established Asia Pacific College had successfully completed its first big event, the Intercultural Leadership Workshop. Attended by twenty-two participants from Hawaii and Korea, sessions addressed leadership issues in government and organizations. The Workshop was well-received, with most participants rating the talks as “excellent” and “informative.”

A hearty mahalo is due to all who have supported CAPE over the years, and especially to Mr. Young-Tae Kim, whose generous contributions allow CAPE to continue offering quality programs in the service of Asia-Pacific participants, and to Mr. Chul-Woo Yang for his dedicated support of the program for English teachers.

The following CAPE friends were in attendance at this annual meeting Dr. Choon-Hak Choi, Dr. Sung-Kyu Choi, Mr. Seung-Hwan Choi, Dr. Euisook Kim, Mr. & Mrs. Young-Tae Kim, Hon. Mansup Lee, Dr. Jong-Yong Park, Dr. Seok-Soon Yoon, Dr. Myung-Seok Park, Dr. Nahm-Shiik Park, Mr. Chul-Woo Yang, Dr. Sung-Chul Yang and Dr. Jai-Ho Yoo.
The 40th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English

This highly useful workshop marked the big 4-0 this past winter. Twenty English teachers sponsored by the Yongok Foundation stayed in Hawaii from January 3 to 29 to join this workshop, which combines intensive lecture and skill-building sessions with three days of in-service observation and training at local public and private schools.

Workshop sessions gave the participants a close look at American educational philosophies and the latest pedagogical methods for teaching English as a second/foreign language (ESL/EFL) through the following extensive set of courses: Teaching English Reading Skills; Teaching Listening & Speaking Skills; Teaching Writing Skills; Using Computers and the Internet to Teach; Teaching English through English; Micro-teaching; Developing Comprehension Questions for Teaching Reading; Psycho-Sociolinguistics & Language Teaching; Extensive Reading in the EFL classroom; Resources for EFL Specialists via the UHM Library; EFL Methodology: Teaching EFL Skills; Teaching Casual Conversation; Task-Based Language Teaching; Corpus-Based Language Teaching; Classroom Research for Language Teaching: Current Findings; Telling a Good Story and Other Approaches to the Instruction of Spoken English; Language, Culture, and ESL; and Motivating Foreign Language Learners.

A warm mahalo goes out to our distinguished faculty for their energetic and informative lectures: Dr. Craig Chaudron, Dr. Graham Crookes, Dr. Richard Day, Mr. Kenton Harsch, Dr. Roderick A. Jacobs, Dr. Richard W. Schmidt, Mr. Edward J. Shultz, Dr. Dina R. Yoshimi, Dr. Robyn Blanpied, Ms. Alison Hartle, Mr. Dong-Wan Kang, and Ms. Jinhwa Lee.

The in-service school visitation and training component gave the teachers from Korea the opportunity to observe firsthand English-language instruction in the classroom and to interact with their American colleagues on the faculties at Lunalilo, Central, Dole, Puuhale, and Washington Middle Schools, and Honolulu Waldorf School. They also made a special visit to Punahou School. All these activities enabled our teacher-participants to broaden their cross-cultural perspectives and to gain exposure to a wide variety of recent developments in the theory and practice of teaching language. These teachers will apply the skills and concepts gained through their in-service experience to the teaching of English in their own schools upon their return to Korea. The careful planning and organization of the school visits and warm reception experienced at all sites made a fond and lasting impression on workshop participants.

Adding to these formal learning experiences was a more informal, intimate activity that gave each of our participants a look into the life of an American family in Hawaii. Participants became a part of local household for one week, sharing meals, household chores, and other aspects of family life. A special mahalo goes out to Ms. Sharon Sing of Hawaii Homestay for her outstanding efforts in arranging homestays for our group. Warm thanks are also extended to the following host families, whose kindness and hospitality allowed our CAPE participants to experience the true meaning of Aloha: Ms. Susan Aiwohi, Mr./Mrs. Earl & Denise Chang, Mr./Mrs. Dan & Lee Curran, Mrs. Puna Darval, Drs. James & Sue Iwamura, Mr./Mrs. Wallace & Beverly Look, Mr./Mrs. Dick & Joan Rodby, Ms. Ann Wilby, Mrs. Florence Lau, Mr. & Mrs. Arthur Suzuki, Mr. & Mrs. Peter Nishimura, Mr. & Mrs. Edward “Bud” Schoen, Ms. Julie Schoen, and Mr. & Mrs. Paul Pollitt.

CAPE also extends a warm mahalo to the following educational administrators for their thoughtful arrangements of the school visitations: Ms. Frances Altweis, Waldorf School; Ms. Lorraine Ching, Teacher, Lunalilo Elementary School; Mr. Winslow Elliot, Community Relations Director, Honolulu Waldorf School; Mr. David Hanaike, Principal, Puuhale Elementary School; Mr. Michael Harano, Principal, Washington Middle School; Ms. Sue Lauthenslager, High School Chair, Honolulu Waldorf High School; Mr. Myron Monte, Principal, Dole Middle School; Mr. Dean Nakamoto, Principal, Lunalilo Elementary School; Ms. Hope Staab, Director, Wo International Center, Punahou School; and Ms. Melissa Trew, Principal, Central Middle School.

This workshop, sponsored for the fourteenth time by the Yongok Foundation, not only provides teachers from Korea with the opportunity to incorporate new teaching material and methods into their lessons, it also gives participants aloha-filled memories of Hawaii. CAPE extends a special mahalo to Founder Mr. Chul-Woo Yang and Executive Director Mr. Yong-Jo Kim for their continued support in the growth of the English-teaching profession. Special thanks also go out to Mr. Seung-Hwan Choi, who accompanied the teachers as their guide.
The 41st Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English
(for Graduate Students in English Language Teaching)

F or the third year in a row, students from the International Graduate School of English (IGSE) in Korea participated in this workshop tailored especially for graduate students. From February 1 to 16, twenty graduate students attended rigorous sessions in English language teaching taught by the renowned faculty of the Second Language Studies Department at the University of Hawaii.

A highlight of the program was the visit to Maryknoll School, where participants spent an entire school day with students and teachers, experiencing first-hand the atmosphere of an American school. A special mahalo goes out to the faculty, staff, and students of Maryknoll, for providing such warm aloha to our participants. Special thanks are also extended to Mr. Dan Nagami for his assistance in arranging the visit.

CAPE would like to thank Dr. Craig Chaudron, Dr. Graham Crookes, Dr. Richard Day, Ms. Christina Higgins, Ms. Jinhwa Lee, Dr. Richard W. Schmidt, and Dr. Dina Yoshimi for their excellent classes. Spearheading the efforts to create such a program is Dr. Hyun-Sook Chung of IGSE’s Department of English Language Teaching, and CAPE also thanks Dr. Chung and the chaperone for this group, Dr. Myongsu Park.

The 12th Workshop for Elementary English Teachers

T wenty-four elementary school English teachers came to Hawaii from December 29, 2005 to January 22, 2006 to participate in this workshop sponsored by the Daegu Office of Education.

This group of teachers enhanced their knowledge of the English language through courses geared toward English teaching techniques for young learners, and also got an introduction to Hawaiiana. Highlights of this workshop were the school visitations to Lunalilo and Luuhale Elementary Schools, where participants had an orientation and tour of the schools and facilities. They also enjoyed observing and interacting with students and teachers during class sessions. Special thanks goes out to Ms. Lorraine Ching, Lunarilo Elementary School; Mr. David Hanake, Puuhale Elementary School; Ms. Amy Kantrowitz, Lunarlilo Elementary School; and Mr. Dean Nakamoto, Lunalilo Elementary School for the help in arranging the school visits.

The 19th Home Care Workshop

T wenty-three healthcare professionals from Korea participated in the 19th Home Care Workshop, which gave them an up-close look at American practices in the home care field. Held in Honolulu from January 8 to 15, this unique workshop assisted professionals in broadening their understanding of comprehensive home care programs, augmenting their knowledge of current developments in home care, and promoting cross-cultural exchange in their field through interaction with their colleagues in Hawaii.

This year’s program was conducted in cooperation with CareResource Hawaii, Hawaii Healthcare Professionals, Hospice Hawaii, Nursefinders, Prime Care Services, St. Francis Home Care, Wilson Homecare, Maluhia Hospital, and Straub Clinic and Hospital.

A wide variety of special features combined to maximize cross-cultural training experiences. Eye-opening presentations on trends and techniques in the home care industry were conducted by Ms. Corinne Suzuki, Director, St. Francis Home Care; Mr. Ken Zeri, President, Hospice Hawaii; and Ms. Emilie Smith, Administrator, CareResource Hawaii, Queen’s Medical Center. Orientations and tours of Maluhia Hospital, Straub Clinic and Hospital, and Hospice Center enabled participants to observe home care theory in practice at healthcare facilities, while the beneficial home visits arranged by Hawaii Healthcare Professionals, Hospice Hawaii, Nursefinders, Prime Care Services, St. Francis Home Care, and Wilson Homecare added to cross-cultural enrichment for participants, Hawaii healthcare professionals, and their patients.

A special mahalo goes out to Mr. Jay Duquette of Maluhia Hospital, Ms. Edwina Lee of Straub Clinic and Hospital, Ms. Laura Rose of Hospice Hawaii, Ms. Emilie Smith of CareResource Hawaii, Ms. Claudia Fristo of Hawaii Health Professionals, Inc., Mr. Ken Zeri of Hospice Hawaii, Ms. Annette Wong of Nursefinders, Ms. Beth Hoban of Prime Care Services, Ms. Corinne Suzuki of St.
Francis Homecare, and Ms. Nettie Vierra and Ms. Shelly Wilson of Wilson Homecare for all their assistance in arranging the tours and home visits. CAPE also thanks the lecturers for their presentations.

Of course, the success of this workshop would not be possible without the aid of our skilled translators: Dr. Jinhwa Lee, Mr. Sangki Lee, Ms. Iyeri-Joo, and Ms. Woomi Shin.

The 42nd International Program for College Students

Participants in the 42nd International Program for College Students, with Dr. Clifford Uejio, Mr. Kevin Gregorek, Mr. Loryn Gum, and Alison Hartle, January 2006.

Fifty-nine college students from Chungnam and Kyungbuk National Universities in Korea came to Hawaii this past winter to enhance their English skills in three- and four-week programs specially designed to concentrate on international business, marketing, and electrical engineering.

The Kyungbuk University group, in Hawaii from January 9 to February 5, attended the four-week program geared towards developing the future careers of these bright engineering students. Participants attended morning classes, which included technical lectures from professors of the University of Hawaii Engineering Department and in-depth talks regarding careers and related jobs in the field of engineering, in addition to English lessons and American and Hawaiian culture classes. Afternoons were reserved for learning about the island, people, and way of life on Oahu through fieldwork assignments that took students to places such as the Bishop Museum, Pearl Harbor, and Hanauma Bay.

The second group of students, who were from Chungnam University, stayed in Hawaii from January 15 to February 4 to attend the three-week program designed for students interested in international business and global e-commerce. Intensive morning sessions focused on English language as well as presentations and lectures regarding topics such as marketing, management, and doing business electronically. Participants explored Oahu in the afternoons, completing fieldwork assignments created to give students opportunities to take what they have learned in the classroom and apply it out in the “real world.”

CAPE’s programs for college students once again set a new standard in training future leaders of tomorrow with classes tailored to meet the demands of the 21st century. These programs could not have been made possible without our outstanding faculty: Dr. Dana L. Alden, Dr. Diego Barrettino, Dr. Tung Bui, Ms. Qimei Chen, Dr. Graham Crookes, Ms. Hildre Crookes, Mr. Kevin Gregorek, Ms. Alison Hartle, Mr. Rick Kazman, Dr. Anders Host-Madsen, Ms. Ellie MacManuels, Mr. Russell Nitta, Dr. Raymond Panko, Dr. Todd Reed, Mr. Stuart Sakoeki, Mr. Daniel Silver, Mr. Wayne Shiroma, Mr. Ralph Sprague, Ms. Jan Stelovsky, and Dr. Clifford Uejio. CAPE extends a warm mahalo to all.

The 32nd International Program for Nursing Students in Eldercare

Participants in the 32nd International Program for College Nursing Students (Eldercare), with Dr. Anthony Lenzer, Mr. Kang-Yi Lee, and Dr. Eun-Ju Kim, January 2006.

This CAPE program brought twenty students from Dejeon University in Korea to Hawaii to study recent trends and theories in the field of eldercare from January 10 to 20. The group was comprised of undergraduate and graduate students, who were accompanied by two chaperones from the Dejeon University Department of Nursing.

Participants’ intensive schedule included lectures and specially-designed tours of Maunalani Nursing & Rehab Center, Maluhia Hospital, and Straub Clinic and Hospital. Graduate students in the program engaged in a day-long observation and shadowing experience on-site at Maunalani.

Sincere mahalo is extended to all those who helped make this program a success: Ms. Sai Chantavy, Administrator, Maunalani Nursing & Rehab Center; Mr. Jay Duquette, Administrator, Maluhia Hospital; Ms. Carol Foye, Lecturer, The Center for Asia-Pacific Exchange; Ms. Verna Hanashiro, Assistant Professor, Hawaii Pacific University; Ms. Gayle Igarashi, Maluhia Hospital; Ms. Edwina Lee, Vice President for Hospital Operations, Hawaii Pacific Health, and Chief Nurse Executive, Straub Clinic & Hospital; Dr. Anthony Lenzer, Former Director, Center on Aging, University of Hawaii; Dr. James Pietsch, Professor, School of Law, University of Hawaii; Ms. Valisa Saunders, Geriatric Nurse Specialist, Kaiser Permanente; Mr. Daniel Silver, Lecturer, The Center for Asia-Pacific Exchange; and Ms. Dorothy Yoshida, Human Resources, Maunalani Nursing & Rehab Center. CAPE would also like to thank the students’ chaperones, Dr. Kang-Yi Lee and Professor Eun Jo Kim.

The 24th International Program for Middle/High School Students

Participants in the 24th International Program for Middle/High School Students, with Mr. Daniel Silver, and Mr. Russell Nitta, January 2006.

From January 5 to 17, forty-one middle and high school students engaged in a variety of activities designed to broaden their cross-cultural knowledge, improve their English communication skills, and promote intercultural understanding and friendship.

Our CAPE students devoted their mornings to intensive study of the English language and American culture.

Afternoons were spent carrying out fieldwork assignments that emphasized communication in English through exploration visits to key historical and cultural landmarks in Hawaii such as the Arizona Memorial and the Honolulu Academy of Arts.

A vital component of this program is the opportunity to visit a school in Honolulu. Students spent the day at Sacred Hearts Academy and St. Francis High School, interacting with their peers, observing an American school system, building cultural bridges, and making lasting friendships. A warm mahalo is extended to the students, staff, and teachers of Sacred Hearts Academy and St. Francis High School, especially Sr. Joan of Arc Souza, Principal, St. Francis School and Karen Curry, Director of Admissions, St. Francis School.

CAPE would also like to thank our outstanding and nurturing faculty for their contributions to this program: Ms. Carol Foye, Mr. Kevin Gregorek, Mr. Russell Nitta, and Mr. Daniel Silver.

IN MEMORY OF DR. CRAIG CHAUDRON

CAPE is saddened to announce the sudden death of Professor Craig Chaudron of the Department of Second Language Studies at the University of Hawaii at Manoa. Dr. Chaudron was an enthusiastic teacher in many CAPE programs over the years, always eliciting a strong positive response from our program participants.

His expertise in the field of language acquisition and education was always a great addition to our programs, and we proudly include him among the best of our team.

You will be missed, Craig.
