2008: Nearly 30 Years of Educational Exchange

2008 was a year of many accomplishments and increased programming for CAPE. The year started off with ACCET’s (The Accrediting Council for Continuing Education and Training) final approval of CAPE’s re-accreditation, thus re-affirming the quality of services that we offer. Our official recognition of a new five-year re-accreditation was the highest possible level of achievement to be granted by ACCET. To date, we have hosted more than 8,800 participants from 16 different countries, with participants coming from China, Hong Kong, Japan, Korea, and the Philippines this year. Over 550 students took part in the 24

The 19th Annual Language and Culture Seminar
Fall 2008:
Vietnam, Thailand, Russia

CAPE’s Language and Culture Seminar is part of a semi-annual event designed to familiarize the business and local community with current Asian issues through cultural and language knowledge in order to promote international understanding and exchange. Our efforts for enhancing Asia-Pacific harmony in the 21st century begin with this cross-cultural awareness. Workshops were held on 3 consecutive Saturday mornings at the University of Hawaii at Manoa.

2008’s fall seminar featured the nations of Vietnam, Thailand, and Russia. With topics focusing on the understand-programs that included lecture series, nursing and mental health workshops, teacher training, language learning, and intercultural exchange. Furthermore, in our efforts to help defray the cost of expenses, CAPE awarded Fellowships, Merit Scholarships, and Housing and Board Grants to 51 students from 5 different countries. All of this support would not have been possible if it weren't for the extended network of friends and contributors of CAPE from all over the world. We sincerely thank you all.

The 28th Annual American Studies Forum was held from August 5-12, 2008. CAPE had the honor of welcoming 10 visiting scholars from Japan, Korea and the Philippines to attend the forum. Featured topics included “Writing Lives: The History of Biography and Autobiography in America” and “Self-Display In Our Technological Age: America Online and Digital Lives” by Dr. Craig Howes (Department of English, UH-Manoa); “20th Century American Literature” and “The Harlem Renaissance and African American Identity” by Dr. Mark Helbling (Department of American Studies, UH-Manoa); “Etched in Acid: Scott Fitzgerald and Hollywood” and “Jewel in the Crown: The Modern American Short Story” by Dr. Barry Menkoff (Department of English, UH-Manoa); “American Literary Orientalism: Then and Now” by Dr. Mari Yoshihara (Department of American Studies, UH-Manoa); and “Contemporary American Issues” by Dr. Dean Neubauer (Department of Political Science, UH-Manoa). All discussions and exchange of ideas were very informative and well-received.

Continuing with the traditions of one of our most successful programs, CAPE hosted more than 160 participants in 8 different Workshops for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English in 2008. These teachers came to Honolulu for skills training and professional development through the continuous institutional supports of selected universities and offices of education in Korea and Japan. In its 5th year of continuous support, the International Graduate School of English in Korea sponsored 20 of their graduate students for a 2-week intensive study with one of our CAPE workshops. Along with participants from Seoul and Chonnam Province, English and Elementary teachers also came from Hong Kong, Japan and the Philippines. The popularity of these CAPE Workshops for English Teachers is undoubtedly due to the expertise of well-known faculties from the University of Hawaii. We are greatly indebted to them for their ongoing contributions and support.

Twenty-five nurses and mental health professionals came from Korea to attend the 9th Workshop on Psychiatric/Mental Health from January 26 - February 2, 2008. Through educational seminars and health center and hospital visits, they were able to learn about the issues and practices that currently impact their field. CAPE also hosted the 13th Workshop for Clinical Nurse Specialists in the fall of 2008. Besides preceptorship training and shadowing, the 38 clinical nurses also had the opportunity to visit many of Hawaii’s important attractions. These nursing programs have been a unique part of CAPE’s educational offerings as they continue to benefit all those who participate.

One of our most frequent offerings is the International Programs for College Students. In 2008, we offered 12 of these English-language learning programs to both regular and nursing college students, as well as high schoolers from China, Japan and Korea. All came with the intention to improve their English conversational and grammatical skills. Over a month long period, the 326 participants explored Hawaii and learned everything about the culture, from basic traditions to the cultural and historical aspects that make the islands unique. Their interaction with local residents and visits to public schools gave the students the opportunity to experience American and local situations as well as participate in classroom activities and observations. Their English and cultural studies are no doubt key to CAPE’s mission of promoting mutual understanding, respect, and cooperation among the peoples of the Asia-Pacific region.

Finally, our semi-annual Asia-Pacific Studies Forums featured two distinct seminar series focusing on the social, political, economical, and cultural issues of Asian countries today. The “Asia Today” series re-commenced in the spring of 2008 with discussions on modern developments of the Chinese, Korean, and Myanmar nations. Hawaii community members came together with eager minds to explore topics such as nuclear power and global inter-dependence. The fall season brought with it our 19th Annual Language and Culture Seminar. Participants opened the door to the history and culture of Vietnam, Thailand, and Russia. Seminar featured topics shed light on the foundations of these three nations and the impacts of U.S. intervention on their relations with neighboring countries. In an ever globalizing economy, CAPE is proud to continue its efforts of offering new perspectives in order to aid in our understanding of today’s intertwining world issues. We believe that all of our audience members can gain much from these forums.

Another year of generous donations has allowed us to continue providing support through scholarships to many of the participants in 2008. CAPE was able to offer awards to visiting students from China, Japan, Korea, and the Philippines. In addition, an American Studies graduate student fellowship was also awarded to the University of Hawaii at Manoa. We congratulate these outstanding recipients and would like to express our sincere gratitude to our long-standing list of Honor Roll Contributors. A warm mahalo for your support!

As we approach nearly 30 years of continued educational exchange, CAPE will do its best in enhancing Asia-Pacific harmony in the 21st Century by providing opportunities for professional collaboration, interchange, educational development and scholarly research. The quality programs that we offer are far-reaching, not only to those students who visit our shores for a few weeks or months, but also to the members of our local communities here in Hawaii. With your continued support, our efforts can help to create able individuals who will make great leaders for tomorrow. We rely on an ever-growing alumni network, and depend on it with the completion of each program for the improvement, nurturing and growth of new friendships. Our fundraising efforts to build a new CAPE building with a multi-purpose facility that can house our offices, classrooms, as well as allow ample space for gatherings and conferences, are still in the works. With a strong belief and forward-looking approach, we hope to reach this goal some day.

As always, we finish this annual report with our heartfelt thanks for the support and generosity of all our friends and donors. You live all over the world, and your encouragement makes it possible for us to pursue our vision of contributing to the creation of a better world. We would like to thank the faculty of the University of Hawaii, the many lecturers, visiting speakers, English teachers, nursing instructors, hospital- and medical-facility staffs, principals and teachers of visited schools, home stay host families, volunteers and community members who make our work possible, and who welcome our students so openly.

ing of these countries and their peoples, languages, histories, characteristics of personal relations, and social customs and etiquettes, the lectures fueled interesting discussions as they shed light on the many facets affecting the 3 nations. On October 25, Dr. Pierre Asselin, Associate Professor with the Department of History at HPU, gave an overview of Vietnamese history and discussed the country as it was during the American War. On November 1, Dr. Jack Bilmes, Professor of Anthropology at UH-Manoa, talked about the changes in culture and society that Thailand is facing as it becomes more and more influenced by modern ideas and the global economy. On November 8, Ms. Patricia Polansky, Russian Bibliographer of UH’s Hamilton Library, took a look at the influences of Russia’s relationships with its neighbors, followed by a discussion of Changing Globalization by Dr. Deane Neubauer, Emeritus Professor of Political Science at UH-Manoa. The three day series brought not only awareness of the impacts of U.S. intervention into these nations, but also showed all who attended how intertwined world relations have become.

We thank those community members who were present, and especially our seminar faculties for their terrific presentations. It is with your support and contributions that CAPE is able to continue our offering of these free lectures to the public. Politics and Film in American Society and Culture

New Media, American Political Culture and Barack Obama
by Konrad Ng

American culture is strongly reflected in its literary and media. This year’s American Studies Forum will take a look at films with a message and what they tell us about the various aspects of our society. Furthermore, exploring the literary responses to September 11, the Forum will also focus on contemporary American poetry and drama as well as fiction and film to consider the role that humor has helped in our response to the attacks. By being aware of the impacts of these new forms of media and the different approaches they provide towards cultural subject matters, we are able to seek a better understanding of the various kinds of political and social implications that affect America’s role among nations. Featured speakers are all professors of American Studies, English, and Political Science from the University of Hawai‘i at Manoa.

CAPE Friends/Korea Met in November

On November 27, 2008, our President, Dr. Jai-Ho Yoo, visited Korea to meet with supporters of CAPE. At a banquet once again held at the Hannam Club in Seoul, Dr. Yoo highlighted our 2007 successes in his annual report to CAPE Friends/Korea. With an increase in the number of participants, CAPE hosted 18 programs and welcomed more than 400 students from 6 different countries in 2007. As we continue on with our plans for the future, Dr. Yoo told the group of CAPE’s preparation for re-accreditation with The Accrediting Council for Continued Education and Training (ACCET).

In addition to CAPE’s accomplishments, Dr. Yoo also updated our supporters on the progress of Asia Pacific College’s 1st cohort in their Master’s in Intercultural Leadership Program. Our sister institution’s remaining MA candidates were well into their second year of study at the time, and all were working steadily towards their final semester of Independent Research. Dr. Yoo described the course developments that APC has made in the instructional design of this entirely online program.

As we look forward to a second cohort in 2009, both APC and CAPE are grateful for the group’s ongoing support and would like to especially thank Mr. Young-Ta Kim, President of CAPE Friends/Korea, for his generous contributions over the years. We also owe a big Mahalo to all our CAPE friends who joined Dr. Yoo at the meeting: Mr. Seung-Hwan Choi, Dr. Hyun-Uk Kim, Dr. Sung-Hoon Kim, Hon. Mansup Lee, Dr. Choon-Hak Choi, Dr. Susie Kim, Dr. Jong-Young Park, Dr. Myung-Seok Park, Hon. Seok-soon Yoon, Dr. Sung-Kyu Cho, and Dr. Nahm-Sheik Park.
Mr. Myron Monte, Principal of Dole Middle School, and Mr. Michael Harano, Principal of Washington Middle School, visited Korea from October 3 - 12, 2008. Their visit to Korea was made possible by partial support from Mr. Chul-Woo Yang, President of Kyo Hak Sa Publishing Company, CAPE alumni, and The Center for Asia-Pacific Exchange.

During their trip, the principals visited two middle schools in Seoul and one middle school in Daegu, at the invitation and arrangements by our CAPE alumni who are either teachers or a principal at the schools. Mr. Monte was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Barbara Tavares Monte, Mr. Harano and the two of them received warm welcomes from the schools. Each visit began with school orientation, and included a meeting with selected teachers, classroom observations, our principals’ remarks and the presentation of Hawaiian songs by Mr. Monte, and a luncheon with teachers and students. The occasion provided an exceptional opportunity for the two principals to learn more about Korea and education in general. Furthermore, it was a great opportunity for them to meet CAPE alumni teachers who had visited their schools during the CAPE program in Hawaii.

The two schools in Seoul that hosted our visiting principals were Shinnam Middle School and Hwikyung Girls’ Middle School. At Shinnam was CAPE alumni, Mr. Jin-Young Jung, Principal, and at Hwikyung was Mr. Jae-Choon Park, English Teacher and CAPE alumni, who helped to host our guests. Mr. and Mrs. Park’s 3 children also performed a traditional Korean song and dance as a gesture of welcoming the principals.

In Daegu, our visiting principals were hosted by Mr. Jung-Hyun Nam, English Teacher and CAPE alumni at Hyosung Middle School. CAPE alumni in the Daegu area also hosted a dinner in honor of the principals. They all had a good time reminiscing about life in Hawaii and their own school visits. In addition, many CAPE alumni extended warmth and aloha by escorting the two principals around to places of interest and historical attractions in Seoul. They enjoyed many lunches and dinners together. After their visit to Daegu, our two principals and Mrs. Monte extended their journey to Kyungju, a historical site.

Finally, Mr. Chul-Woo Yang, President of Kyo Hak Sa, was generous enough to host the farewell dinner for our two principals and Mrs. Monte. We are grateful to him and the CAPE alumni who rendered their help during the visit. Also, helping to make this 10-day visit to Korea comfortable and fruitful from the time of arrival to departure was Mr. Yong-Jo Kim, Director of the Yongok Scholarship Foundation. A hearty Mahalo is due to him for his support and hospitality. And we would like to extend special thanks to the three schools, their principals, teachers and staff who graciously welcomed our guests. Their overwhelming reception and hospitality left many unforgettable memories on our visitors. All returned home much impressed!

The CAPE alumni who helped to make the visit successful included: Mr. Yong-Jo Kim, Ms. Seok-Young Lee, Ms. Hee-Young Youn, Mr. Jin-Young Youn, Mr. Joo-Han Jang, Mr. Jae-Choon Park, Ms. Young-Ok Yoon, Mr. Teuk-Won Park, Mr. Jung-Hyun Nam, Dr. Jong-Sun Kim, Dr. Bok-Nam Doh, Ms. Je-Hee Kim, Ms. Kyeong-Ae Cho, Ms. Hee-Jin Yoon, Mr. Duk-Mu Lee, and Dr. Kyuwan Ahn.

Thanks are also due to Mr. Myron Monte and Mr. Michael Harano who have opened their hearts to welcome the many visiting Korean teachers to their schools in the past years. These two principals have contributed immensely to helping Korean teachers learn more about American education and to the enhancement of friendships. It is therefore, tremendously significant that they, too, were able to increase their understanding of Asia and Korea. Mr. Monte and Mr. Harano, a warm Mahalo to the both of you!

The following was an Introduction to Korea in a Journal prepared by Mr. Monte:

We were privileged to travel to the Republic of Korea from October 3 to 12, 2008. This was at the invitation of Dr. Jai-Ho Yoo and the Center for Asia-Pacific Exchange (CAPE). I, Myron Monte, have worked with this organization for the past six years, as they have placed visiting teachers of English from Korea at my school to expand their knowledge of the United States. Also invited on this trip was Michael (nickname, Mike) Harano, Principal of Washington Middle School. My wife, Barbara Tavares, who is with the University of Hawai‘i, also accompanied me. The expenses of both Mr. Harano and myself were underwritten by CAPE with generous support from Mr. Chul-Woo Yang, founder of Kyo Hak Sa Publishing Company, and Yong-Jo Kim, director of Yongok Foundation. Although a long time fan of Korean dramas, which air daily on Hawai‘i TV, and a regular consumer of Korean food (Hawaiian version), I do not speak the Korean language. In preparation for this trip, I purchased several Korean language tutorials and attempted to learn some basic vocabulary. Meanwhile, Barbara took a course at the University of Hawai‘i, The Sociology of Korea. Although neither of us became proficient in language acquisition or knowledge of this country, we felt that we had improved our understanding of Korea to some degree.
The 28th Annual American Studies Forum

last summer's American Studies Forum featured topics on “Writing Lives: The History of Biography and Autobiography in America” and “Self-Display In Our Technological Age and American Online as a Digital Lives” by Dr. Craig Howes; “20th Century American Literature” and “The Harlem Renaissance and African American Identity” by Dr. Mark Helbling; “Etched in Acid: Scott Fitzgerald and Hollywood” and “Jewel in the Crown: The Modern American Short Story” by Dr. Barry Manikoff; “American Literary Orientalism: Then and Now” by Dr. Mari Yoshihara; and “Contemporary American Issues” by Dr. Deane Neubauer. Ten participants from Japan, Korea, and the Philippines attended this week-long forum.

Focusing on the history of written accounts and our current revolution in communications technology, Dr. Howes, Editor of the journal Biography: An Interdisciplinary Quarterly and Professor of English at the University of Hawaii, discussed the social, political, and personal impacts that these realms have on the self-publication of American lives.

Addressing the issues of African American identity and the American Dream was Dr. Helbling, Professor of American Studies at the University of Hawaii at Manoa. His teaching and research interests include African American history and culture, the Harlem Renaissance, Cultural Theory, American Literature-Twentieth Century, and America and Africa. In his forum lectures, Dr. Helbling explored the American writer and culture through the American Dream and how it is used as a means for celebration, criticism, as well as understanding of cultural experiences. Furthermore, he also talked about how artists, writers, and intellectuals of the New Negro Movement in the 1920s were very self-conscious of their construction and reconstruction of African American identity, and how their efforts in novels, poetry, and art have since had a significant influence on writers and intellectuals today.

Widely published on 19th and 20th century English and American writing, Dr. Menikoff, Professor of English and American literature at the University of Hawaii, is known for his work on Robert Louis Stevenson. His topic at the forum centered on Scott Fitzgerald’s final phase with Hollywood and the modern American short story. Professor Menikoff explained how Hollywood provided Fitzgerald with the opportunity to develop a new manner in his writing and the material for an original expose of a dominant aspect of American culture. He also showed us how the modern American short story is not just the jewel in the crown of prose fiction, but that it is also the revelation of 20th century American life.

A graduate of the University of Tokyo and Brown University, Associate Professor of American Studies at UH-Manoa, Dr. Mari Yoshihara presented on the politics and poetics of how American writers have used their ideas about “the East” in their works as both subject matter and form. She focused particularly on writers on East Asia such as Ezra Pound, Amy Lowell, and Pearl S. Buck. Her discussion also addressed more contemporary expressions of Orientalism in American literature and how Asian American writers have responded to that.

Finally, Dr. Dean Neubauer, Emeritus Professor of Political Science at UH, rounded off the forum with his lecture on Contemporary American Issues. He looked specifically at topics such as the falling US dollar, immigration, contracting regional economies, energy costs, and crises in the sub-prime housing market to see how they affect globalization.

Participants had afternoons and the weekend free to explore the islands. Many took the opportunity to learn about the history and different aspects of culture that make up Hawaii. We would like to thank all the faculty and speakers for their time and contribution to the success of this flagship forum. The lectures were excellent as always!

The 53rd Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English

From July 25 - August 22, 2008, the Seoul Metropolitan Office of Education sponsored 17 teachers from Seoul, Korea to come to Hawaii for the 53rd Workshop for effective teachings of English as a Foreign Language included: Teaching English Reading Skills, and Testing & Evaluation in EFL by Dr. Graham Crookes; Using Literature to Teach Fluency & Vocabulary, Teaching Writing Skills, Teaching Vocabulary Skills, and Teaching English as an International Language: The Role of Culture in Asian Contexts by Dr. Sandra McKay; EFL Methodology: Teaching EFL Skills, Teaching Listening & Speaking Skills, Motivating Foreign Language Learners, and Psycho-Sociolinguistics & Language Learning by Dr. Richard W. Schmidt; Teaching Casual Conversation in the EFL Classroom by Dr. Dina Yoshimi; and Extensive Reading: Helping Students to Become EFL Readers by Dr. Richard Day.

These presenters are well-known and respected scholars in their field. CAPE relies on this faculty support of the renowned SLS Department at the University of Hawaii at Manoa. We would like to thank all the professors for their help in the success of this program, and hope that our English teacher participants also enjoyed their courses as well as their short time here in Hawaii.

The 52nd Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English

Eleven English teachers from Hong Kong, Japan and Korea came to attend this 10-day workshop. They participated in a range of intensive training courses designed to give them knowledge about the latest issues, techniques and research related to English Language teaching and the promotion of cross-cultural interaction. Topics on the...

Asian-Pacific Teachers of English. These participants took part in a 3-component program that consisted of courses taught by University of Hawaii Second Language Studies faculty, visits to and classroom observations of American middle and high schools, and a month-long Homestay with local host families.

Workshop training courses offered these English teachers useful teaching techniques for reading, listening, speaking, writing, vocabulary, and pronunciation, as well as allowed them to explore other issues such as Testing & Evaluation, Interaction Competence, Individual Difference Factors, and Focus on Form in the EFL Classroom. But perhaps they got the most out of their visits to Hawaii public schools. The participants spent almost one week observing and interacting with American teachers and students at local middle and high schools. They visited Roosevelt High School, and Dole, Niul Valley, and Washington Middle School. We are sure that both sides learned a lot from this valuable and rewarding cross-cultural exchange. CAPE extends our warmest mahalo to Mr. Myrone Monte, Principal of Dole Middle School; Mr. Justin Mew, Principal of Niul Valley Middle School; Ms. Ann Mahi, Principal of Roosevelt High School; and Mr. Michael Harano, Principal of Washington Middle School for their gracious hospitality.

In addition to classes and school visits, our teachers lived with a host family for their entire length of stay. This gave them the opportunity to use English by interacting with an American family and seeing first-hand everyday life in the U.S. Through sharing one another’s cultures, participants learned a lot and have come away with a greater understanding of local and American cultures. CAPE would like to also thank all the wonderful families who helped make possible this precious experience that our participants will undoubtedly keep with them for years to come.

The 54th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English

Making up the 54th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English from July 28 - August 24 was a third group of 23 teachers from the Chonnam Province in Korea. Their stay in 2008 also included classes on leading theories in the field of EFL teaching, as well as school visits and classroom observations. These English teachers had the privilege of visiting McKinley High School, Jarrett Middle School, Kalakaua Middle School, and Kalani High School for their observations. And in addition to the teaching technique training courses, they also had an informative overview of Public Education in Hawaii/USA.

We owe the popularity of these CAPE Workshops for English Teachers to the continued dedication of many UH faculties throughout the years. Special thanks to Dr. Graham Crookes, Dr. Richard Day, Dr. Christina Higgins, Ms. Yoneko Kanaoka, Ms. Jinhwa Lee, Dr. Sang-Ki Lee, Ms. Jee-Hyun Ma, Dr. Sandra McKay, Dr. Hanh Thi Nguyen, Dr. Richard W. Schmidt, Dr. James T. Shon, Dr. Edward J. Shultz, and Dr. Dina R. Yoshimi, without whose support, this program would not have been possible. We thank you for your leadership and lectures. CAPE also would like to express our sincere gratitude to Mr. Ron Okamura, Principal of McKinley High School; Mr. Marcus Dascany, Vice Principal of Kalani High School; Mr. Michael Harano, Principle of Washington Middle School; Ms. Donna Lum, Principal of Jarrett Middle School; Mr. Patrick Nishi, Vice Principal of Jarrett Middle School; Mr. Arnold Shimamura, Vice Principal of Kalakaua Middle School; and Mr. Gerald Terame, Principal of Kalani High School for welcoming our participants into their schools.

Our teachers also had a great time doing the many cultural activities that Hawaii has to offer in their free time. Afternoons and weekends were spent visiting places such as Pearl Harbor and Polynesian Cultural Center. We hope that they all have gained as much from their sightseeing as their studies, and look forward to welcoming many more from the Chonnam Province again in the future.

The 13th Workshop for Elementary Teachers of English

In addition to the 3 Workshops for Teachers of English, CAPE also hosted 2 Workshops for Elementary Teachers of English in the summer of 2008. From July 25 - August 22, sixteen participants from Seoul, Korea joined the 13th Workshop for Elementary Teachers of English. These participants attended classes in the mornings and explored places of interest around Hawaii in the afternoons and on the weekends. In addition to the normal teaching skills training, they also had the opportunity to listen to lectures on topics such as “Developing Culturally Sensitive / Communicative Materials for Korean Primary and Secondary High School Language,” “Telling Stories: Accounts of Personal Experience and Other Forms of Extended Discourse,” “Autonomous Language Learning (Reading and Writing),” and “Public Education in Hawaii/USA.” Furthermore, their month-long workshop also included visitations to four elementary schools across Oahu. For one week, these teachers spent time observing and interacting with students and faculties of Ala Wai, Kahala, Kuhio, and Waialae Elementary School. All expressed great satisfaction with the experience.

CAPE thanks all the professors, and especially the Second Language Studies Department at UH-Manoa, for teaching this workshop: Dr. Graham Crookes, Dr. Richard Day, Dr. Jinhwa Lee, Ms. Sang-Ki Lee, Ms. Jee-Hyun Ma, Dr. Sandra McKay, Dr. Hanh Thi Nguyen, Dr. Richard W. Schmidt, Dr. James T. Shon, Dr. Edward J. Shultz, and Dr. Dina R. Yoshimi. We would like to also extend a warm Mahalo to Ms. Charlotte Unni, Principal of Ala Wai Elementary School; Dr. Peter Chun, Principal of Kahala Elementary School; Ms. Evelyn Hao, Principal of Kuhio Elementary School; and Ms. Pam Igarashi, Coordinator, and Ms. Wendy Lagareta, Principal of Waialae Elementary School, for the kind hospitality they showed towards our teachers who visited their schools.

The 14th Workshop for Elementary Teachers of English

The 14th Workshop for Elementary Teachers of English was held from July 28 - August 24, 2008. A group of 22 elementary teachers, together with the group from our 54th Workshop for English teachers from Chonnam Province in Korea, came to study EFL methodologies and teaching practice. These elementary teachers also followed a similar schedule to the other groups. They attended workshop lectures as well as visited schools in Honolulu.

Courses were taught by UH professors of the SLS Department; Political Science Department; College of Languages, Linguistics, and Literature; School of Hawaiian, Asian & Pacific Studies; Department of East-Asian Languages and Literature; as well as a Visiting Professor of English from San Francisco State University and Assistant Professor of TESL of America's Future by Dr. James A. Dator. Special thanks also to Ms. Hildre Crookes for the special sessions.

Participants also visited Lunalilo Elementary School, Puuhale Elementary School, Royal Elementary School, and Queen Kaahumanu Elementary School. CAPE would like to thank Ms. Lorraine Ching and Mr. Dean Nakamoto, Principal of Lunalilo; Mr. Calvin Nomiyama, Principal of Puuhale; and Ms. Ann Sugibayashi, Principal of Royal, for their generous hospitality as we look forward to working with them again in the future.

The 53rd International Program for College Students (TESL)

For the fourth year in a row, sixteen students from Hankuk University of Foreign Languages came to attend the 53rd International Program for College Students. They arrived in Hawaii on July 1, 2008, eager to begin their three-week intensive study of the English language. These future teachers of English also had the chance to attend lectures taught by renowned faculties from the University of Hawaii’s Second Language Studies Department.

Courses geared towards their field of Teaching English as a Second Language (TESL) focused on topics such as Teaching Technique, Teaching English Reading Skills, Vocabulary Acquisition through Reading and Writing, Developing Teaching Material, Telling Stories: Accounts of Personal Experience and Other Forms of Extended Discourse, and Teaching Writing Skills.

In the afternoons and in their free time on the weekends, these students went sight-seeing around the island, visiting notable places such as Hanauma Bay, Bishop Museum, and the State Capitol/Iolani Palace.

Moreover, the participants had the opportunity for a two-day visit to Maryknoll School, during which they conducted observations of classes for the entire school day and interacted with Maryknoll teachers, faculty, and students in their after school activities. Our CAPE students definitely gained a valuable experience from this special visit, and we are sure that they all returned home with warm memories of the friendships that they made here.

We would like to express our sincere thanks to Mr. Kenton Harsch, Ms. Jee-Hyun Ma, Dr. Sandra McKay and Dr. Dina Yoshimi of the UH SLS Department; our CAPE Lecturer, Mr. Curt Hutchinson; and Maryknoll School Director of Special Programs, Mr. Dan Nagami, for their contributions to this program.

The 54th International Program for College Students

Summer 2008 also brought another diverse group of 37 college students from China, Korea and Japan to study English in Hawaii. From August 4 - 30, fifteen students from Tongwon University and ten students from Honam University in Korea joined twelve other students from Asia in the quest to improve their English language skills.

Classes offered these students the opportunity to learn English in a communicative environment and develop their listening, speaking, writing, and presentation skills. They also attended special sessions on American and Hawaiian cultures that increased their awareness about communication.

Outside of the classroom, they completed a variety of fieldwork activities that took them to places of educational, historical, and cultural interests such as the State...

Cape, Iolani Palace, Aloha Tower, Waikiki, the Honolulu Zoo, Sea Life Park, Hanauma Bay, Arizona Memorial, the Honolulu Academy of Arts, Bishop Museum, Punchbowl National Cemetery, Diamond Head, Ward Center, and Ala Moana. These assigned fieldworks gave them countless opportunities to apply what they learned in the classroom to “real world” situations. Often these outings also became topics of discussion for exercises in class as well. We hope that all gained a lot both in and out of the classroom. CAPE thanks their instructors, Ms. Valerie Lo, Ms. Stacey Thomas and Mr. Sean Trundle for these classes.

The 38th International Summer Program for College Nursing Students

CAPE’s program for college nursing students combines the concepts of two of our successful programs (English language courses and practical healthcare forums) into a unique one that enables students in the field of nursing to learn about the U.S. healthcare system while strengthening their English language skills in a multi-cultural setting. In the summer of 2008, CAPE hosted a total of four of these College Nursing Programs.

The 38th International Summer Program for College Nursing Students was held from June 21 - July 19, 2008. CAPE welcomed fifteen students from Dongu College and eighteen students from Kyungbok College of Kyunggi Province in Korea for this Nursing Students Program. Also accompanying them were Dr. Woong-Sook Jung from the Department of Nursing at Dongu College, and Dr. Jeong-Soo Kim, Chaperone from the Department of Nursing at Kyungbok College. These groups of students spent their month-long stay in Hawaii attending English and healthcare classes in the mornings, with sightseeing and shopping in the afternoons and on weekends as they explored places such as Diamond Head, Arizona Memorial, and Sea Life Park.

The English classes taught them not only conversational skills, but American and Hawaiian culture as well. Students also spent a day with University of Hawaii School of Nursing professionals and received a complete overview of the UH Nursing Department and toured their facilities and classrooms. Other healthcare institutions visited outside of the University included Maluhia Hospital, Pohai Nani Retirement Center, Kuakini Medical Center, Hawaii Medical Center, and Straub Clinic & Hospital. These tours allowed our participants to conduct observations and shadowing of local nurses and interact with the healthcare residents to experience for themselves what it’s like to work in a U.S. healthcare facility. All of them felt that this chance was a special and touching experience that deeply impacted both the students and residents of the nursing homes.

Many thanks to the following individuals for their assistance in the success of this program: Mr. Jay Duquette, Administrator of Maluhia Hospital; Mr. John Kahle, Mr. Russell Nitta, Ms. Kimi Stever, and Ms. Heather Thomas, our CAPE Lecturers; Ms. Verna Hanashiro, Assistant Professor of Nursing at Hawaii Pacific University; Ms. Gayle Igarashi of Maluhia Hospital; Dr. Neil MacNaughton, Associate Professor with the Department of Nursing at UH-Manoa also gave an overview of our U.S. Health Care System as well as talked about Nursing Education in the U.S., while Dr. Dianne Ishida introduced the students to UH’s Nursing Program and presented on “Health Care & Issues in Hawaii.” Other lectures focused on topics such as the “Roles of RN/CNS/Nurse Practitioners” by Ms. Verna Hanashiro of Hawaii Pacific University, and “Public Health Nursing” by Ms. Melissa Quinn of the West Oahu Public Health Nursing Section.

Furthermore, our participants visited many of the same facilities as the previous group in order to personally observe U.S. hospital practices. CAPE wishes to thank again all those who helped make our program a success. We are deeply grateful for their warm hospitality and support!

The 39th International Summer Program for College Nursing Students

The summer’s second College Nursing Students Program took place from June 30 - July 26, 2008. Thirty-seven students came from Kyungbuk, Inha, Inje, and Yonsei University in Korea to participate in CAPE’s 39th International Summer Program for College Nursing Students. These students followed a similar schedule to that of our 38th Program. Their English and American/Hawaiian culture instructors were John Kahle, Kimi Stever, Sean Trundle, Curt Hutchinson, Hazel Hasegawa, Stacey Thomas, Heather Thomas, and Dr. Clifford Uejio.

Dr. Neil MacNaughton, Associate Professor with the Department of Nursing at UH-Manoa also gave an overview of our U.S. Health Care System as well as talked about Nursing Education in the U.S., while Dr. Dianne Ishida introduced the students to UH’s Nursing Program and presented on “Health Care & Issues in Hawaii.” Other lectures focused on topics such as the “Roles of RN/CNS/Nurse Practitioners” by Ms. Verna Hanashiro of Hawaii Pacific University, and “Public Health Nursing” by Ms. Melissa Quinn of the West Oahu Public Health Nursing Section.

The 40th International Program for College Nursing Students

The 40th International Program for College Nursing Students was geared towards giving our 23 participants from Chonnam National University in Korea a leadership perspective in the field of healthcare. Besides their English and culture classes from July 7 - August 2, 2008, these students learned about healthcare issues and also heard lectures on “Leadership/Creative Thinking” by Ms. Kimi Stever, CAPE Lecturer; “Health Care in 2008” by Ms. Rose Ann Poyzer, Former President of Health Care Association of Hawaii; “Nursing Leadership in Action: At Work in the Community” by Dr. Patricia Nishimoto, Oncology Clinical Nurse Specialist at Tripler Army Medical Center; and “Nursing Leadership Under Conditions of Increasing Global Interdependence” by Dr. Deane Neubauer, Emeritus Professor of Political Science at UH-Manoa.

During their month-long stay, the students visited Kuakini Medical Center, Hawaii Medical Center, Maluhia Hospital, and Maunalani Nursing & Rehab Center. CAPE would like to thank again all who were apart of this program and our lecturers in addition to Ms. Sai Chantay, Administrator of the Maunalani Nursing & Rehab Center; Dr. Barbara Kooker, Professor of Nursing & Former Dean of the School of Nursing at UH-Manoa; Mr. Ken Zeri, President of Hospice Hawaii; and Dr. Mr.-Won Kim, the group’s chaperone from the Department of Nursing at Chonnam National University.

The 41st International Program for College Nursing Students

Finally, our fourth group of nursing students arrived on July 9, 2008. This 41st International Program for College Nursing Students comprised of 31 students from Yonsei University in Korea. They were accompanied by two chaperones, Dr. Hyejung Lee (Professor) and Ms. Eun-Young Jo. This program was only a short week stay for the students, and therefore, they had very little, if no focus on English at all. Session topics focused mainly on “Understanding Hawaii/USA,” “Aging in Hawaii,” and “Nursing Leadership in a Period of Changing Health Care,” among others. Facilities visited were the Kalii-Palama Health Center, Maluhia Hospital, Kapiolani Medical Center for Women & Children, Hawaii Hospice Center, and Maunalani Nursing & Rehab Center. CAPE thanks all the seminar faculties and speakers for their time and contribution to the program, especially Mr. Emmanuel Kintu, Executive Director of Kalii-Palama Health Center, in addition to those already previously mentioned.

The 30th International Program for Middle/High School Students

In another energetic and enjoyable program, CAPE hosted 16 high school students from Magoe High School in Chungbuk, Korea for the 30th International Program for Middle/High School Students from July 18-August 31, 2008. Daily English classes were also supplemented with American and Hawaiian cultures, fieldwork sessions, and a school visit to MaryKnoll School.

Instructors Hildre Crookes, John Kahle, and Curt Hutchinson taught the students speaking, reading, writing, and listening skills, while encouraging them to apply those very same English skills outside of the classroom to complete their fieldwork assignments. Afternoon outings and daylong weekend visits included many places on Oahu such as the Polynesian Cultural Center, the Arizona Memorial, and the Aloha Stadium Swap Meet. The students also enjoyed a beautiful sunset cruise in the evening.

A highlight of the program, of course, was the participants’ visit to MaryKnoll School. For an entire day, the students were able to experience life at a typical American high school. They observed and participated in a variety of classes and spent time with their local American peers during breaks and lunch period. It was undoubtedly a culturally-enriching experience. CAPE thanks Mr. Dan Nagami, Director of Special Programs at MaryKnoll School, again for his hospitality and continued assistance.

The 13th Workshop for Clinical Nurse Specialists

In the fall of 2008, CAPE welcomed 38 nurses from Korea to participate in our unique 13th Workshop for Clinical Nurse Specialists. From November 5-15, the participants attended seminars led by nurses and nursing professionals in Hawaii. They also visited healthcare facilities on Oahu, and had the opportunity for on-site observations plus shadowing of a senior colleague at a local hospital. This preceptorship afforded them the chance to see a cross-cultural perspective in the field of healthcare.

Seminar presentations by esteemed professionals in the healthcare industry covered a variety of topics, including: “Introduction to Health Care in Hawaii” by Ruth Ota, Chief of Public Health Nursing Branch at the Hawaii Department of Health; “Clinical Nurse Specialists in Action” by Pat Nishimoto, Oncology Clinical Nurse Specialist at Tripler Army Medical Center; “The Roles of the RN, CNS, and Nurse Practitioner” by Verna Hanashiro, Assistant Professor at Hawaii Pacific University; “Clinical Nurse Specialists: Case Management” by Rose Lau and Kie Kawanano of American Healthways; and “Clinical Nurse Specialists: Risk Management” by Alan Morita, Director of Risk Management at Kapiolani Medical Center for Women and Children. Furthermore, the group visited Pohai Nani Retirement Center under the direction of Carolyn Morrison; Straub Clinic & Hospital under Betty Karrrti; and The Queen’s Medical Center under Nicole Pickens, for “Pain and Palliative Care” under Beth Freitas, and “Roles of CNS at Queen’s (Diabetes Management)” under Kelli Williams. The nurses’ Preceptorship Training/Shadowing took place at Kuakini Medical Center under Gayle Oshima, Kapiolani Medical Center for Women & Children under Betty Karratti, Kapiolani Medical Center at Pali Momi under Brigitte McKale, and Straub Clinic & Hospital under Glenda Kaalakea.

Tours, visits, and observations were conducted on-site for participants to gain a broader understanding of American healthcare facilities and practices, as well as to promote cross-cultural exchange between countries. The preceptorship training/ shadowing, an integral component of this workshop, enabled participants to shadow their local American counterparts on the job for a day, deepening the cross-cultural connections and enhancing participants’ understanding of clinical nursing in the U.S.

This workshop would not have been possible without the assistance of all those mentioned. CAPE thanks them for their individual coordination of the on-site visits. We would also like to thank Ms. Sai Chantavy, Administrator of Maunalani Nursing & Rehab Center; Ms. Cynthia Kamikawa, Vice President for Nursing and CNO at the Queen’s Medical Center; and Ms. Brenda Singson, from the Nursing Office of Hawaii Medical Center, for their continued support of our program. And also a warm Mahola to Dr. Barbara Kooker for her special session with our nurses.

Celebrating the 30th Anniversary of CAPE

CAPE plans to celebrate its 30th Anniversary in the summer of 2010. This celebration will mark a tremendous achievement for our institution and will be the perfect occasion to look back on the past 30 years of educational exchange as we envision another 30 years of service. But most importantly, it will be an opportunity to extend thanks to all those who have contributed to making CAPE what it is today: our faculties of the various programs, associates in the Honolulu community, the many departments and offices at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, the East-West Center housing and conference services, numerous local schools, healthcare locations in Honolulu, host families, donors, volunteers, and so many others who have directly and indirectly assisted us in the past.

This anniversary is the time to say thank-you to these people. Without them, CAPE would not have been able to achieve the goals that were dreamed of three decades ago. Thanks are also due to our CAPE alumni in various parts of the world, all the educational institutions in the Asia-Pacific region, and many others who have rendered support, both moral and material, throughout the years. It is our hope that many of these CAPE friends and alumni will be able to join our anniversary celebration in 2010. We look forward to welcoming all of you.
